

- Home
- About the host
- contact info and links
- advertise with us
- NW Events
- Podcast
- RSS

The 67 Music Celtic Broadcast

CD Reviews

by SkOt Cranmore on March 8, 2011

Abby Green “Fig for a Kiss”

By SláinteSteve for 67 Music

Abby Green’s second recording “Fig for a Kiss” is another delightful collection from this Texas Native, following her first cd, “Einini”, in 2008. “Fig for a Kiss” gives us 10 more traditional Irish songs, tastefully crafted and arranged by Abby in her own personal style. Abby sings many of the songs in Irish Gaelic which lends a beautiful authenticity, (she also teaches workshops in the language). Her clear voice compliments her own accompaniment on bouzouki and cittern while her talented entourage of backing musicians flavor the recording with various pipes, mandolin, and fiddle. Add harmonizing backing singers and clean, well-produced production values and instrument mixes and you’ve got one wonderful recording. You’ll put this one in your player often.

Visit Abby at her website: <http://www.abbygreen.com/>